Earns National Recognition As Recipients Of The Coveted

"Eagle One Golden Rule Award"

Turning their passion for cars into compassion for others has earned Car Clubs in four National Regions the 13th annual Eagle One Golden Rule Award for the most outstanding community service programs during 2005.

The Golden Rule Award honors car clubs for outstanding achievement in community service. A car club in the West, Midwest, East and South whose community and charitable activities are judged the most outstanding in its region during the year 2005 will receive the coveted award. A runner-up club in each region will also be honored.

Each winning car club will receive a custom-designed award, and Eagle One and Valvoline will each send a $250 cash contribution to a charity designated by each of the four winning clubs. Each winner and runner up will receive a generous supply of Eagle One products and Valvoline's MaxLife motor oil for fund-raising purposes.

"Eagle One is proud to recognize and reward Car Clubs for the good works that they perform in their communities, while actively engaged in the preservation and restoration of one our country's greatest historical heritages, the automobile," said Doug Zalla, V.P. Marketing of Eagle One.
